

Culture in Breast Cancer: Overcoming Unequal Obstacles

July 29, 2021

Zero Breast Cancer Webinar

Lei-Chun Fung, MPH, MSW

Health Education Manager

Chinatown Public Health Center

SFDPH

Asian Americans & Cancer

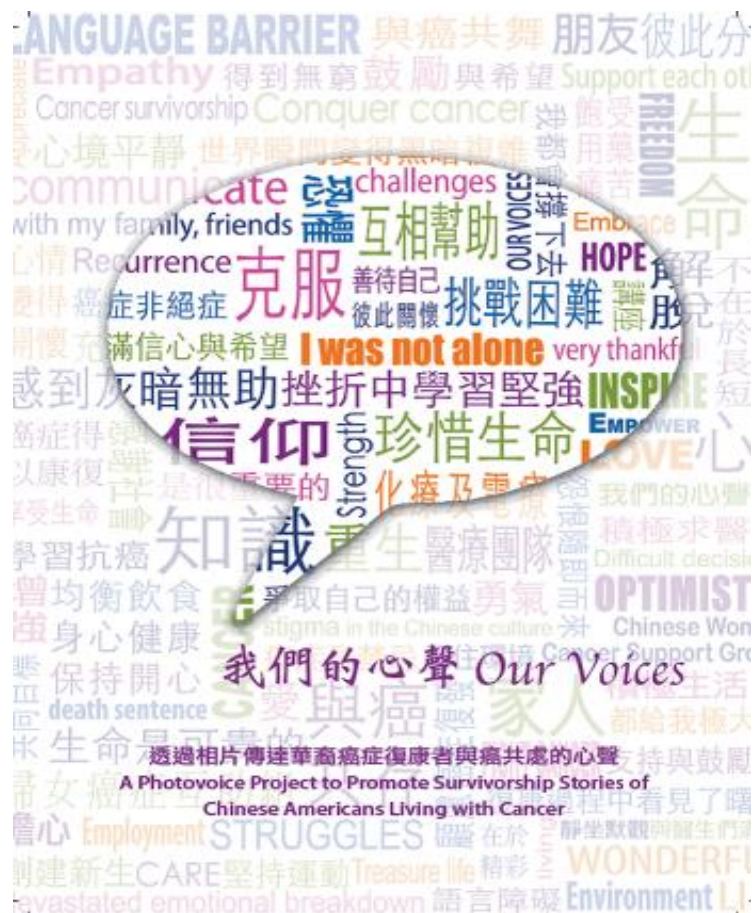

- Cancer is the leading cause of death for AA
- Language barriers
- Cancer stigma
 - Prevents people from sharing, receiving support
 - Promotes loneliness, isolation

Need for patient-centered, culturally & linguistically appropriate care for Asian American living with cancer

Chinatown Public Health Center - Chinese Women Cancer Support & Advocacy Services

- Chinese Women Cancer Support Group (1994 - present)
- Quilt Making – 2 quilts (1998, 2015)
- Publications
 - Our Stories (2001)
 - Our Voices (2016)
- Chinese Cancer Survivors Peer Support Program (2013 - present)
- Ongoing Cancer Advocacy Projects & Activities

Bilingual Publication: Our Voices (2016)

24 cancer survivors each shared 1-2 photos and their story of living with cancer

Photo from Qing | Age 68 | 10 Year Endometrial Cancer Survivor

I felt just like this swan all curled up in its world, at the edge of the lake without love and care from friends and family.

Chinese Women Cancer Support Group

Cancer Quilts

To Nurture Self is to Create
New Life!

Our Stories

Sarah Chin – received ICC Hope Award on behalf of Chinese Women's Cancer Support Group,

Evaluation of Chinese Women Cancer Support Group (2011, n=18)

Self-reported change after participating 6 months

- 89% Improved self-esteem
- 84% Improved emotional management skills
- 83% No longer felt isolated
- 83% Improved outlook on life
- 90% Improved stress management skills

Meeting Covid Pandemic Challenges

- Anti-Asian violence
- Lack of support
- Disruption of services
- Medical care delays
- Limited technology
- Mental & physical health
- Isolation

Telephone Calls

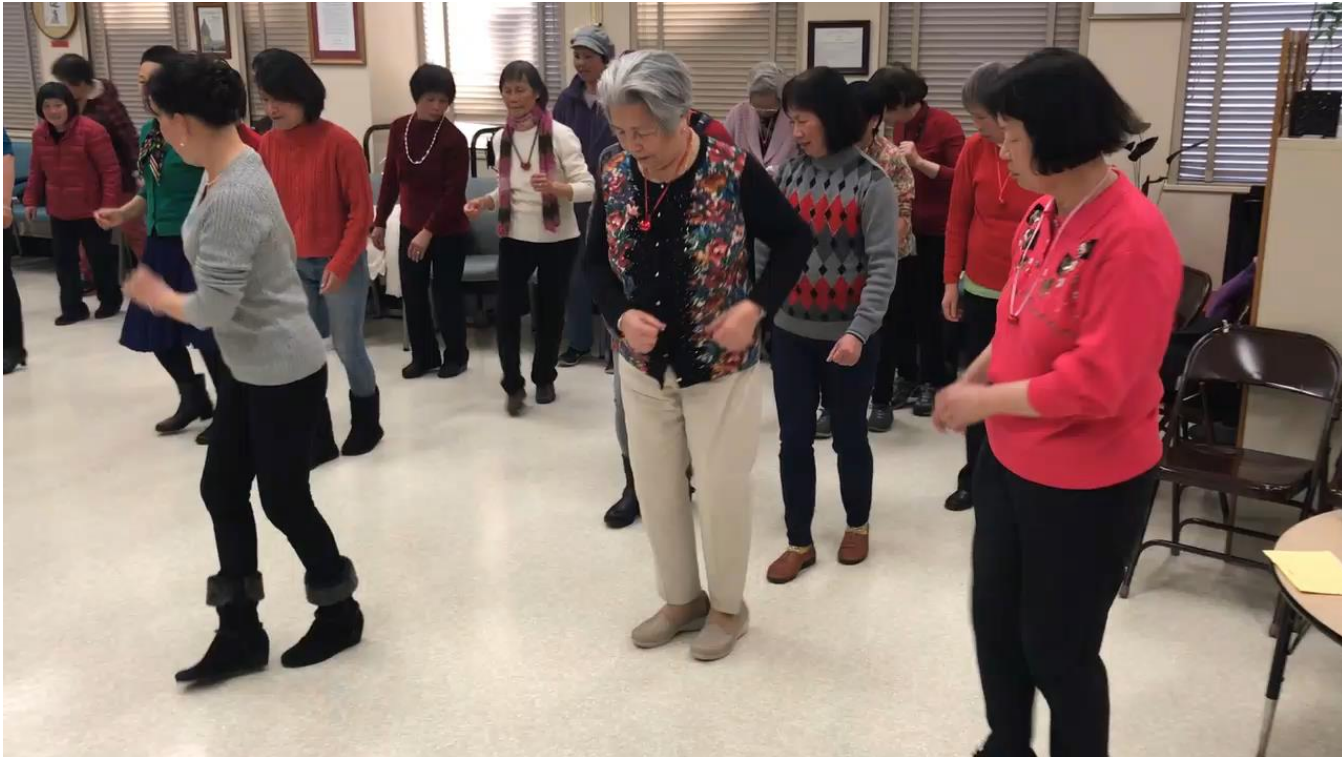

Peer support

Online support group

Resource referrals

Thank You!

Lei-Chun Fung, MPH, MSW

Lei-chun.fung@sfdph.org

www.sfhealthnetwork.org/chinatown-public-health-center/